Source Type: Article

Context (what is important to note about the creator, when it was created, its audience, or its format?): This is an article that details a socio-economic / civil justice issue on an impoverished neighborhood located in Centerville, IL. It is formatted in such a way, with short paragraphs paired with impacting and realistic images to draw readers in to the severity of this wicked problem.

Summary (what important facts about the source's content should we note for our discussion): We should note the many similarities this article shares with other sources we've covered in the past. These include: socio-economic issues (usually tied to other factors of the afflicted demographic), the exaggeration of issues due to negligence for said afflicted communities by those in power such as political officials.

Analysis (what should we take away to better understand our problem and its stakeholders?): To ensure problems like this are controlled there needs to be a more controlled and localized delegation of power and financial resources within communities, especially those at greater risks to face civil justice crisis.
