

Research Question

Our research seeks to answer the question: How can we effectively incorporate scientific methods in a curriculum focused on the history and impact of slavery? By addressing this question, we aim to create a curriculum model that combines scientific and historical perspectives to create a deeper understanding of slavery's legacy.